

Sweet Potato Latkes (or Pancakes)

Adapted from “Orna and Ella, The Cookbook” (published in Hebrew)

Ingredients: (makes about 20 small latkes)

For the latkes:

- 2 lbs. sweet potatoes – preferably small
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup gluten-free flour
- 1 tablespoon Tamari sauce (gluten-free soy sauce)
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 teaspoon coconut sugar
- A little organic Grapeseed oil for frying

For the dipping sauce:

- $\frac{2}{3}$ cup sour cream (or make your own vegan sour cream)
- 2 tablespoons vegan mayonnaise
- sea salt and pepper to taste
- 3 tablespoons chopped chives

Directions:

1. If you are using mini sweet potatoes, cook them in their skins until completely soft (pierce with a blade of a knife), cool slightly and peel. If you are using big ones – peel and cut them in large, fairly uniform cubes and cook until soft. Place in a colander to drain excess liquid.
2. Let cool, add soy sauce and mix gently with your hands (the mixture is quite sticky). Add salt, sugar and flour and mix again, until thoroughly combined.
3. Discard any hard bits, and avoid over mixing, which will make the batter heavier and even stickier.
Set aside for half an hour.

4. Gently heat a skillet and add just enough oil to cover its surface. Wet your hands and form balls size of a walnut, drop on a skillet and flatten with a spatula.
 5. Fry the latkes gently for 4-5 minutes, flipping them once. They should be nicely browned and firm enough to be removed with a spatula. Drain on paper towel. Fry in batches until all the batter is used. Add more oil if necessary and make sure the oil is hot before adding another batch of pancakes.
 6. Combine the dipping sauce ingredients in a small bowl.
 7. Serve the latkes warm with the dipping sauce or set aside and reheat in a medium-hot oven (not in a microwave!). Reheating actually improves the texture, so these latkes are perfect for making ahead.

Fish in Pomegranate-Cilantro

Sauce

This fish sauce is delicious, light, and works well with any white fish. The sauce is mildly spicy and a little sour. The cilantro can be replaced with parsley for those who prefer the milder flavor of parsley.

Yield: 12-14 servings

Ingredients:

- 3 lbs. white fish (12 fillets; I like Halibut, Wild Cod, Wild Snapper or Hake)
- Sea salt
- White pepper
- 1 lemon

For the sauce:

- 1/3 cup Grape seed oil (or cold pressed organic canola oil)
- 2 medium purple onions, peeled and sliced thinly
- 1 tablespoon date or coconut sugar (or brown sugar)
- 10 small garlic cloves, peeled
- 2 tablespoons sweet paprika
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1 bunch cilantro, chopped
- 1 tablespoon pomegranate molasses (optional)
- 2 cups pomegranate juice (POM)
- Juice from 1 lemon
- 1 jalapeño pepper, chopped (seeds optional)

For Garnish:

- 1/2 cup chopped cilantro
- 1/2 cup chopped mint

Directions:

- In a large sauté pan, heat up the oil and add the onion and sugar. Sauté until onion is lightly caramelized (about 5 minutes).

- Add the garlic cloves, paprika, salt and pepper and cook for another 2 minutes.
- Add the cilantro, pomegranate juice, pomegranate molasses, and lemon juice and bring to a boil. Lower the heat, add the jalapeño and cook on low heat for another 10-12 minutes, until sauce thickens. (You can prepare the sauce a day ahead and refrigerate. Warm up the sauce before serving and add the fish as follows)
- One hour before serving, drizzle the fish fillets with sea salt, white pepper and lemon juice. Place fish fillets in one layer over the sauce, cover the pot and cook on low heat for 12-15 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand in the covered pot for 20 minutes.
- Plate the fish on a platter or individually, garnish with fresh herbs, and serve.

Roasted Chicken Marinated with Date Molasses

The combination of the sweet date molasses (sometimes labeled “syrup”), orange, ginger and olive oil brings the Middle Eastern flavors to this chicken marinate. The addition of soy sauce (Tamari) brings saltiness into the mix. The chicken comes out nicely brown, crisp and full of flavor. Garnished with toasted pine nuts and fresh parsley it makes a great presentation for the your holiday meal.

Yield: 10-12 servings

Ingredients:

- 12-14 skinless, organic chicken pieces (choose legs, thighs, or large pieces of chicken breast)

For the marinate:

- 1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 6 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 tablespoon ginger, grated
- 4 tablespoons soy sauce (preferably gluten-free like Tamari sauce or Coconut Aminos)
- 3/4 cup organic date molasses/syrup (see this link)
- 1 tablespoon date sugar (or brown sugar)
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 teaspoon orange peel, grated
- 1 tablespoon sweet paprika
- 2 tablespoons organic Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 teaspoon fresh black pepper

For garnish: (optional)

- 1 cup toasted pine nuts or walnuts or slices almonds
- 1/2 cup fresh parsley leaves, chopped.

Directions:

1. In a large bowl, mix together all the marinate ingredients, add the chicken and toss to coat well. Refrigerate for minimum of 2 hours.
 2. Heat up to oven for 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Place the marinated chicken in an oven proof baking dish and bake for about one hour, tossing occasionally to brown on all sides.
 3. Plate the chicken and garnish with toasted pine nuts and parsley. You can also serve over cooked quinoa, brown rice or wild rice.

How to Grill like a Smart Life Pro

In summertime, everyone loves easy grilling as a way to enjoy the season with friends and family. Here are a few Smart Life tips and recipes to help you keep up your healthy habits and still enjoy the fun and flavors of a barbecue.

1. Start with Choosing High Quality Protein: Start by making a smart choice at the market. Look for sustainably raised meats, ideally 100% grass-fed or grass-finished beef and organic chicken. By choosing high quality meat you avoid added hormones and antibiotics. Furthermore, animals who are raised in their natural environment and allowed to roam on pasture are the healthiest, and hence the healthiest to consume. When it comes to fish and seafood choose sustainable wild-caught fish like cod or Alaskan salmon, which are high in healthy omega-3 fatty acids. Avoid fish with higher concentrations of mercury, like tuna and swordfish. Shop savvy with fish-buying guides like the Monterey Bay Aquarium.

2. Grill Smart. A little sear on meat can be delicious, but too much char can be dangerous. Using very high-heat cooking can cause the formation of HCAs (heterocyclic amines), chemicals that have been related to higher risk of some cancers. To avoid the formation of these chemicals, either start by cooking the meat in the oven and finish on the grill, or cook it to medium rare over moderate flame. Choosing smaller cuts and making kebabs instead of selecting larger cuts keeps grilling time shorter, too. Another way to keep HCAs away is to use marinates. Brushing on a thin layer of marinate or marinating meats ahead of cooking, and using acidic marinades with lemon juice or apple cider vinegar can be helpful in avoiding charring. It's best to use a low- or no-sugar marinade to avoid charring. Another way to reduce exposure is to use a rack or cedar plank on the grill; wild salmon is especially tasty prepared this way.

3. Choose Easy and Smart Sides: Instead of energy-sapping fries, potato or macaroni salad, opt for lots of greens and other fresh vegetables. Lightly grill some eggplant, asparagus, zucchini or summer squash slices by tossing these veggies in a bowl with a little EVOO, sea salt, fresh pepper and vegetable broth and fresh herbs. Salads and slaws are also easy to prep ahead. Veggies, raw or grilled, make the perfect accompaniments to grilled proteins and they fill you up with nutrients and fiber that help you cut down on your protein portion sizes.

4. Slow down, be social and have fun. It is ok to relax and enjoy a summer barbecue. If you slow down, enjoy the company of your friends and family and make the gathering not just about the food, you will make the best choices. But if you end up eating or drinking a little too much or tasting an amazing dessert you would normally skip, simply savor it, and move on. No guilt!
